Little Bittern occur regularly at suitable habitats on migration and some individuals occasionally spend the summer here with breeding suspected on several occasions and confirmed in 2004 at Phasouri Reed Beds. BIRDLIFE CYPRUS FIELD MEETINGS AND ACTIVITIES
Spring 2016 – Winter 2016

For field trips, please don't forget your flask of coffee and sandwiches.

Although their higher clearance is an advantage, 4x4s are not necessary for any of the field trips unless stated otherwise below.

The schedule of field trips is drawn up well in advance of the actual dates. The schedule will only change due to an extraordinary event. However, it is sometimes necessary to assign a different leader.

Participants in field trips are always advised therefore to check with the BirdLife Cyprus website in case of any late changes or cancellations.

Whilst BirdLife Cyprus does not charge for attending field trips, any voluntary donation to its conservation work would be very welcome. Please present your gift to the leader on the day.

BIRDTRACK UPDATE: CYPRUS PORTAL NOW AVAILABLE

Since February 2016 users can now access the BirdTrack bird recording system via the Cyprus Portal. Instead of entering the system via the Global Portal as you had been doing, please now use the following link blc.birdtrack.net and remember to update your bookmark.

Through the Cyprus portal, there is now a Gazetteer of the most frequently used birding sites in Cyprus which new users will find especially useful. More features will be added over the coming months.

Any problems or for further details please contact Jane Stylianou janestyicy@yahoo.co.uk mobile: 99558953

KEEP UP TO DATE AND SHARE RECENT SIGHTINGS WITH THE BIRDLIFE CYPRUS GOOGLE GROUP

Continuing BirdLife Cyprus' attempts to ensure both resident and visiting birders receive up to date information on the birds being spotted on the island, we have set up a Google Group through which group members can email in their recent sightings and bird news and receive and read those of other members.

If you would like to join please click here.

Email: BirdLifeCyprusBirds@googlegroups.com

Once you are a member you can choose whether to receive all emails or check the news via the web at a time convenient to you. Visit the settings option to ensure that you get emails if you want to. It is an informal group for birders to share what is around. It cannot be checked for accuracy or be held responsible for misinformation. The group is open to both BirdLife Cyprus members and non-members alike. If you know a non-member or friend who may be interested please let them know.

Any news will also be shared with the BirdLife Cyprus BirdLine 25 934076 and the BirdLife Cyprus Recent sightings page of the website. You can also use these two resources to find out what is around if you don't want to join the Google group.

In addition, do not forget to make your records count by submitting your bird records to the BirdLifeCyprus Recorder and adding them to the country database. HOOPOES NESTING IN MY GARDEN

Melis Charambalides

Around the end of April 2016, I noticed that a pair of Hoopoes were going around our garden at Kalo Khorio Orinis and inspecting the various nest boxes that I have assembled for Great Tits, Cyprus Wheatears, Scops Owls, Barn Owls and House Sparrows. Because most of these nest boxes were far too small for them, I decided to erect another two, bigger nest boxes that I use for my parrots on the 28th April. One, which was 20cm x 20cm x 30cm high, was placed facing south, above my living room window and the other, which was 20cm x 25cm x 40cm high, was placed on a large pine tree north of my house but at a distance so that I could watch what was going on from inside the house.

After about a week of inspections by the female, I noticed that she had disappeared. On the 15th of May, I inspected the two nest boxes with my snake LCD camera and saw that she was inside the nest box that was above my living room window. Four days later on the 19th May after a lot of coaxing and convincing from my part, the female decided to get out of the nest. I took the nest box down and to my amazement there were 8 green eggs inside. I quickly installed my nest box camera, put the nest box back in position and waited with a lot of anticipation for the female to return. I was concerned that my action may have caused her to abandon her eggs. Much to my relief, she did return about half an hour later and resumed sitting on the eggs.

I watched her everyday sitting tight on the eggs with the male bringing food for her. Most of the food he brought her comprised white grubs which I did not recognise until I found a number of broken cocoons of the Pine Caterpillar on the floor under the nest box. At no time have I ever seen the male incubating.

On the 26th May I noticed that some of eggs had hatched but it was difficult to say exactly how many. The chicks were all covered in white down. The male would bring the food and pass it over to the female which was making a strange call seemingly to encourage the chicks to beg for the food which she would then place straight into their mouths. By the 4th June the female was out of the nest and I could count 6 chicks of different sizes. By this time, the female was also collecting food for the chicks.

Although the chicks were growing fast, the difference in size between the biggest chick and the smallest was very noticeable and I started to worry that the smaller chicks might not get enough food and die. On the 12th of June after getting the proper BirdLife Cyprus rings for them I took the nest box down again to place the rings on the chicks. There was still a surprising difference in the size of the chicks.

Our neighbors and BirdLife Cyprus members, Kate Jarrod and Jim Moore, came over to give me a hand. Kate was our official photographer. After ringing all the chicks and taking a lot of photos, we placed the chicks back in the nest. During the handling of the chicks they were continuously squirting a foul-smelling, yellow liquid with which I was covered especially my hands. The liquid must have been highly alkaline as I could not easily get it off my hands.

On the 19th June the first chick left the nest box followed by the second on the 20th and the third on the 21st.

Last Month's Quiz answer

Late spring is a great time to observe waders in their breeding plumage. Beginners often find waders difficult to identify so this time of year is usually the best and easiest to get to grips with many species as they show their most distinctive and characteristic plumage. When identifying waders; shape, jizz and behaviour are also very important.

May's mystery bird is a breeding plumaged adult and should be reasonably straightforward to identify. At a glance it appears white underneath and mostly grey on top, with some black-centred, rufous-edged feathering on its mantle and scapulars. The bill is medium sized, mostly dark, paler at the base of the lower mandible and the legs are yellowish green. Shape and jizz alone should eliminate most species of waders (Plovers, Lapwings, Pratincoles for example all show a shorter bill). In fact the shape is very typical of the Calidris species; long body, short neck and medium length, slightly drooping bill. The legs are in the water and their length is hard to judge but these are short, shorter than on Tringa species, which also typically show a longer neck and less elongated shape. The greyish upperparts and pale legs should immediately suggest the bird's identity as an adult plumaged Temminck's Stint. Although similar in size to Little Stint, these show dark legs, more colourful plumage (reddish in the breeding season, mostly whitish upperparts in non-breeding) and shorter tail (wings in Little Stint reach the tail tip while in Temminck's the tail extends beyond the wing tips). Plumage-wise, Temminck's Stints are most similar to non-breeding plumaged Knot, but this is twice the size, shows a more prominent supercilium and white fringes to scapulars) and Common Sandpiper which is also considerably larger, longer tailed and shows a distinctive white gap between its wings and breast.

MONTHLY WATERBIRD COUNT

May 2016

Martin Hellicar and Yiannis Christodoulides

The BirdLife Cyprus waterbirds monitoring programme has been running since 2005 and covers around 60 wetlands and other waterbird sites around the island. All sites are covered at least every January (mid-winter count) and every May (breeding season count), while the more important sites are also covered in March, September and November. Key Important Bird Area (IBA) wetlands such as the island's two salt lakes, which attract large numbers of birds, are covered on a monthly basis. The monitoring programme is based on the voluntary work of a team of dedicated and experienced recorders and preliminary results are presented in the Monthly Checklist.

For May, 10 recorders covered 15 wetlands (with two coastal sites) across the island where 1,409 birds, of 39 different species were recorded.

The most abundant species by far was the Cattle Egret, with 500 recorded individuals. The second most abundant species was the Eurasian Coot with just over 140 individuals while most species had less than 100 individuals. The wetland holding the most birds was the Ayios Loukas South Lake with almost 450 individuals, closely followed by Oroklini Marsh. The most species-rich sites were the two Larnaka sites, Salt Lake and Sewage Works, along with Oroklini Marsh, all having 18 species. The most noteworthy observation during the surveys was the large number of nests and nestlings in a lot of the sites with Ayios Loukas Lake South having hundreds of nests including at least 150 Cattle Egret nests.
